

The Horse Breeders and Owners Conference is a must-attend event for horse breeders, owners and riders. This “mid-winter horseman’s escape” is celebrating its 31st anniversary this January 11-13 in Red Deer, Alberta, at the Sheraton Red Deer (previously the Capri Centre).

The Horse Breeders and Owners Conference starts at 7pm on January 11th with an "Open Barn" reception in the Exhibit Hall. This year, the “Open Barn” reception is free for anyone to attend, socialize, network and look around the equine trade show, which boasts over 60 sponsor booths. Frank Merrill will kick off Saturday morning’s session at 8:40 am. Saturday evening provides a chance to network and socialize with wine, dessert and live entertainment provided by Albertan cowboy and singer Matt Robertson. The conference continues until Sunday afternoon, which closes with the Fred Pearce Memorial Lecture given this year by Dr. Temple Grandin.

Internationally recognized speakers are coming in from all over Canada, the United States and Australia:

Dr. Bob Coleman - Is my Horse too Fat? and Managing Horses on Pasture
Dr. Temple Grandin - Understanding Horse Behaviour
Frank Merrill - Preserving and Perpetuating the Future of the Equine Industry
Dr. Peter W. Physick-Sheard – Cardiac Rhythm Disturbances in Horses
Dr. Joe Bertone - Equine Sleep and Recumbent Sleep Deprivation in Horses
Christy Landwehr - Marketing the Equine Business
Dr. Matt Randall - Alternative Therapies as Adjuncts to Traditional Medicine
Dr. Sharon Spier - Genetic Implications of Cloning
